

IU School of Medicine 2010-11 Highlights

IUPUI Chancellor Charles R. Bantz announced Thursday that IUSM Dean Craig Brater, MD, has agreed to continue serving the university as dean of the IU School of Medicine beyond his originally planned retirement date of November 2010. <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-1.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

William M. Tierney, MD, has been recommended to be named the first Joseph J. Mamlin Professor of Medicine pending approval by the IU trustees.

Dr. Tierney is a Chancellor's Professor of Medicine, director of the Division of General Internal Medicine and Geriatrics at IU and a senior research scientist at Regenstrief Institute. The Joseph J. Mamlin Professorship was established in 2001 by the Health and Hospital Corporation of Marion County in honor of Dr. Mamlin, who retired in 1999 as medical director at Wishard Memorial Hospital and the IU School of Medicine after more than 30 years of service

. <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-1.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

IUSM launches Haitian relief effort through Partners in Healtht.pih.org/page/group/IndianaUniversitySchoolofMedicine.

Riley recertified as a Level 1 trauma center For the fifth time, Riley Hospital for Children has once again been verified a Level I Pediatric Trauma Center by the American College of Surgeons Committee on Trauma. Riley Hospital was first verified in 1995.

<http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-4.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

Indiana-Kenya Partnership receives $5 million USAID grant

AMPATH, the joint partnership between IUSM, the Moi University School of Medicine and Moi Teaching and Referral Hospital in Kenya, has received a 3-year, $5 million USAID supplement grant to expand health care services in western Kenya.

www.medicine.indiana.edu/news_releases/viewRelease.php4?art=1219

Flora M. Hammond, MD, began her duties Nov. 30 as chairman of the IUSM Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation and chief of medical affairs at the Rehabilitation Hospital of Indiana.

Michael Weiner, MD, MPH, associate professor of medicine, has been named director of the IU Center for Health Services and Outcomes Research, director of the Regenstrief Institute's Health Services Research Program, and director of the Department of Veterans Affairs Health Services Research and Development Center of Excellence on Implementing Evidence-Based Practice, located at the Richard L. Roudebush VA Medical Center in Indianapolis.

Linda Bratcher has accepted the position of director of the Office of Graduate Medical Education. She began her new duties Feb. 4. Bratcher had served for the past 5 years as associate director for accreditation of GME.

Cancer physician and researcher Patrick J. Loehrer Sr., MD, has been named director of the Indiana University Melvin and Bren Simon Cancer Center.

Dr. Loehrer is the second person to lead the cancer center since its founding in 1992. He had been serving as interim director since February 2009 following the death of Stephen D. Williams, MD, the founding director. www.medicine.indiana.edu/news_releases/viewRelease.php4?art=1242.

Karen S. Correll has been named interim director of facilities at IUSM, filling the role previously held by Joel Trammel who has left for a position at Northwestern University

Larry Cripe, MD, associate professor of medicine, has been named interim director of the IU School of Medicine's Division of Hematology/Oncology

Elliot Androphy, MD, has been named chair of the IU Department of Dermatology, Cory Pitre, MD, has been named the competency director for basic clinical skills. Dr. Pitre is an assistant professor of clinical emergency medicine and has served on the basic clinical skills competency team since 2008.

Clarian Health has announced it is changing its name to Indiana University Health. The new name is designed to more clearly convey a joint mission of excellence in patient care, education and research. It will officially go into effect in early 2011.

An official groundbreaking ceremony for the new Wishard Hospital took place May 12 at the site of the new hospital, east of the Richard L. Roudebush V.A. Medical Center. www.TheNewWishard.org.

The Office of Graduate Medical Education (GME) has announced that Carol D. Robinson will serve as GME Associate Director, effective May 30, 2010.

Riley Hospital for Children has been ranked in eight out of 10 categories in the 2010-11 edition of Best Children's Hospitals, published online and featured in the August issue of U.S. News & World Report, available on newsstands starting Tuesday, July 27.

The Richard M. Fairbanks Foundation of Indianapolis has awarded a $20 million grant to IUPUI to help fund its proposed school of public health and provide increased support for public health initiatives in Indiana. program is complete. For more information, visit newscenter.iupui.edu/4712/Fairbanks-Foundation-Awards-20-Million-Grant-for-New-Public-Health-School-at-IUPUI.

Wishard Health Services and the Regenstrief Institute, Inc., have earned the 2010 President's Award for Health Reform Readiness and Leadership from the National Association of Public Hospitals and Health Systems (NAPH). <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-26.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

Kathryn Jane Jones, PhD, director of the Neuroscience Institute at the Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University Chicago and president of the American Association of Anatomists, has accepted the position of chair of the Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology at the Indiana University School of Medicine. <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-27.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

William M. Tierney, MD, Chancellor's Professor and Joseph J. Mamlin Professor of Medicine, has been named president and chief executive officer of the Regenstrief Institute, Inc., <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-27.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

Eleven clinical programs at Clarian Health-Indiana University School of Medicine are ranked among the top 50 national programs in U.S. News & World Report's 2010-2011 edition of American's Best Hospitals. <http://scope.medicine.iu.edu/archives/2010/Vol-14-No-28.htm#AbovetheFold-1>

The Jeff Gordon Foundation recently commemorated its 10th anniversary with a pledge of $1.5 million to Riley Children's Foundation.

The gift will create a $1 million endowment to fund research conducted in partnership between Riley Hospital and the Wells Center for Pediatric Research at IUSM. The remaining $500,000 will address immediate research needs at Riley Hospital. For more information, visit rileychildrenshospital.com/information-desk/media-center/article.jsp?id=451.

Stanley Spinola, MD, David H. Jacobs Professor of Infectious Diseases and director of the Division of Infectious Disease in the Department of Medicine, will be the new chair of the Department of Microbiology and Immunology, effective Oct. 1.

A new laser-equipped microscope at IU Bloomington's Light Microscopy Imaging Center makes it possible to examine biological samples with unprecedented detail in three dimensions. newsinfo.iu.edu/news/page/normal/15184.html.

IUSM faculty are at the forefront of Helping Babies Breathe, a newly launched program to train birth attendants in developing countries the essential skills of newborn resuscitation using hands-on training techniques, culturally sensitive learning materials and "NeoNatalie," an newborn baby simulator.

<http://communications.medicine.iu.edu/newsroom/stories/2010/indiana-university-medical-faculty-at-forefront-of-new-global-in>

Riley Hospital for Children debuted its new Robotic Rehabilitation Center for children with cerebral palsy and other movement disorders with an open house Thursday, Sept. 2.

IUPUI has officially renamed two of the campus' longest-standing buildings. The former Robert W. Long Hospital has been renamed Long Hall and the former Willis D. Gatch Clinical Building has been renamed Gatch Hall.

The Office of Faculty Affairs and Professional Development has announced that Emily C. Walvoord, MD, will join the faculty as assistant dean for Faculty Affairs and Professional Development.

Dr. Walvoord is an associate clinical professor of pediatrics in the Section of Endocrinology and Diabetology and will continue to serve as an associate program director for the pediatric residency program.

The second edition of the popular Pink Glove Dance video for breast cancer awareness, which kept popping up on computer screens across the country in 2009, is now on YouTube. <http://pinklovedance.com/>

A $1.9 million federal grant from the Health Resources and Services Administration will enable the Department of Family Medicine to expand its residency program to the Lafayette, area with the goal of increasing the number of family physicians training and practicing in rural and urban underserved areas of west central Indiana. <http://communications.medicine.iu.edu/newsroom/stories/2010/family-medicine-residency-program-expands-to-bring-more-doctors-/>

D. Craig Brater, MD, IUSM dean, has been named to the newly created additional position of vice president for university clinical affairs.

In this role, Dr. Brater will chair the University Clinical Affairs Cabinet, which consists of the deans or heads of the university's main clinical units, including the schools of medicine, nursing, dentistry, optometry and health and rehabilitation sciences. He will also be responsible for ensuring that all of IU's clinical activities are coordinated with its key clinical partners, including Clarian Health, the Wishard Health System and the Roudebush VA Medical Center.

<http://communications.medicine.iu.edu/newsroom/stories/2010/brater-named-iu-vice-president-for-university-clinical-affairs/>

J. Marc Overhage, MD, PhD, a national leader in the development and implementation of electronic medical records and health information exchange, has been elected to the prestigious Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences.

The Komen Tissue Bank at the IU Simon Cancer Center will receive a $1 million grant from Oracle to support the development of an online resource for breast cancer researchers worldwide.

SCOPE HONORS 2011

January 21, 2011:

Julie McGowan, professor and chair of knowledge informatics and translation and director of the Ruth Lilly Medical Library, recently received the American Medical Informatics Association Leadership Award at the 2010 AMIA Symposium in Washington, DC. This honor recognizes individuals who have distinguished themselves by demonstrating outstanding leadership throughout the year.

Breyanna Grays, a third-year medical student, has been selected as one of the eight recipients of 2011 Minority Scholars Program from the American Academy of Neurology Foundation. The scholarship is given in recognition of outstanding achievements as a medical student. It includes registration to attend the AAN Annual Meeting in Honolulu, Hawaii, airfare, food and ground transportation, lodging for four nights and registration for four educational courses.

Jeff Klann, a Regenstrief Institute/IU Medical Informatics fellow and a PhD candidate in the IU School of Informatics, recently took second place at the American Medical Informatics Association student paper competition for "A Method to Compute Treatment Suggestions from Local Order Entry Data."

The IUSM Office of Public and Media Relations has been named the recipient of first place, Award for Excellence, in the Association of American Medical Colleges' Institutional Advancement competition for "Tour the Life," a blogging project through which medical students share their experiences with prospective students. The award will be presented during a reception at the GIA National Professional Development Conference on Thursday, April 14, in Nashville, Tenn. Visit "Tour the Life" at blogs.medicine.iu.edu/tourthelife

February 18, 2011:

Elaine Cox, MD, associate professor of clinical pediatrics, has been awarded the Indiana Perinatal Network Spirit of Service Award in the category of Advocacy. The award will be presented at IPN statewide conference, Controversies & Innovations in Perinatal Health, to be held March 11 at the Sheraton Keystone at the Crossing in Indianapolis.

Leslie A. Hulvershorn, MD, assistant professor of clinical psychiatry, has been named the recipient of a Young Investigator Award from NARSAD: The Brain and Behavior Research Fund, which has awarded $12.6 million in new grants for promising potential breakthroughs in understanding and treating mental illness. Dr. Hulvershorn will receive $60,000 to conduct the first neuroimaging study to determine the neural mechanisms underlying the clinical effects of long-acting methylphenidate (Concerta™) on emotion regulation in children with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD).

IUSM students Christine Hammer and Kashif Shaikh have been named recipients of the 2011 Julius M. Goodman Scholarship. This scholar program is awarded to third- and fourth-year medical students pursuing a residency and career in neurological surgery.

February 25, 2011:

Mark Rodefeld, MD, associate professor of surgery, has been awarded the Cor Vitae Award from the American Heart Association. The Award was presented at the Lafayette Heart Ball on the Purdue campus. Dr. Rodefeld and Steven Frankel, PhD, professor of engineering at Purdue, are developing innovative mechanical circulatory support approaches to improve therapies for children and adults born with single ventricle heart disease who undergo Fontan palliation. The group was recognized for excellence in advancing the field with highly innovative approaches to this enigmatic problem. Frankel was also recognized for his effort in this multi-institutional, multi-disciplinary effort.

Jeffrey M. Rothenberg, MD, clinical associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology and vice chair for faculty development and alumni affairs, has been elected District V Secretary for American Congress of OB/GYN, effective from 2011 to 2014.

Combined degree MD/MBA students Frank Hrisomalos, Jeff Lastfogel, Bailey Myers, Girish Kunapareddy, and Jason VonDerHaar were named recipients of the Best Business of Life Sciences Award for their presentation on a comprehensive commercialization plan for nonspecific orexin antagonist compounds. The award, sponsored by Eli Lilly, is given to the top performing team in a class of graduate Kelley MBA students.

March 11, 2011:

Javier F. Sevilla-Martín, MD, assistant dean for diversity affairs, associate professor of clinical family medicine and director of international medicine and Hispanic health, Department of Family Medicine, has been named the 2011 recipient of the Dr. Joseph T. Taylor Excellence in Diversity Award. The award was conferred by IUPUI Chancellor Bantz on Feb 24.

Rajiv Sood, MD, professor of plastic surgery and medical director of the Richard M. Fairbanks Burn Center at Wishard Hospital, has been the prestigious Achievement in Medicine (AIM) Award. Dr. Sood cares for and treats nearly 400 inpatient and 2,200 outpatient burn patients each year and has been cited for being “instrumental in leading patient care through innovative burn care research and ongoing positive clinical outcomes.” The AIM Award recipient is selected by the St. Margaret’s Hospital Guild. Indiana Blood Center annually sponsors the award.

April 1, 2011:

Roberta A. Hibbard, MD, professor of pediatrics, has been selected to receive the 2011 IUPUI Chancellor’s Faculty Award for Excellence in Civic Engagement. This award will be officially conferred Friday, April 29, at the University Place Conference Center and Hotel auditorium.

James F. Malec, PhD, professor and research director of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation and Rehabilitation Hospital of Indiana, has been awarded the prestigious Moody Prize for his contributions to clinical care and research. The award, which includes a $10,000 honorarium, a citation and an inscribed statue, will be presented on May 5 at the Galveston Brain Injury Conference in Galveston, Texas. Dr. Malec is known for his work in cognitive and behavioral rehabilitation, vocational reintegration and outcome measurement, including the development of the Mayo-Portland Adaptability Inventory.

Candice Marcum, MD, a fourth-year resident in the Department of Surgery, has won a Society of University Surgeons Travelling Fellowship Award for her talk entitled "Racial Disparities in Breast Cancer Outcomes: Are They Predestined?" Dr. Marcum will present her research at the 46th annual meeting of the European Society for Surgical Research on May 25-28, in Aachen, Germany. Her award winning paper will be presented during at the prestigious Walter Brendel Award Plenary Session at the ESSR meeting.

Danielle Osterholzer, MD, assistant professor of clinical medicine and clinical pediatrics, infectious disease, was named the IUSM Med Peds Faculty of the Year by students in the Pediatrics/Medicine Residency Program.

April 29, 2011:

Richard Gunderman, MD, PhD, professor in radiology, pediatrics, philosophy and philanthropy, has been named the recipient of the 2011 American Roentgen Ray Society/Leonard Berlin Medical Professionalism Award. This two-year award supports research and scholarship related to medical ethics, medicolegal principles, patient accountability and sensitivity to patient diversity and carries a stipend of $100,000.

Roberta A. Hibbard, MD, professor of pediatrics, has been awarded the 2011 IUPUI Chancellor's Faculty Award for Excellence in Civic Engagement. This award recognizes faculty who exemplify high standards of civic engagement, professional service or service learning with documented achievement in peer review, student evaluations or assessments from community organization representatives, as well as scholarly research, publication or presentations that demonstrate professional service to the community and civic engagement. The award will be officially conferred to the Chancellor's Academic Honors Convocation at 3 p.m. Friday, April 29, at University Place Conference Center auditorium.

Amy K. Ricke, MD, a resident in the Department of Psychiatry, has been selected to receive the 2011 Association of Women in Psychiatry Fellowship Award. This award recognizes an outstanding female psychiatry resident with the goal of increasing the exposure of female psychiatric residents to scientific endeavors that will enhance the residents' understanding and commitment to the advancement of women's mental health and the exploration of gender related issues and their impact in the lives of men and women. The award will be conferred during the APA Annual Meeting in Honolulu, Hawaii, in May.

William Tierney, MD, associate dean for clinical effectiveness research, Chancellor's Professor and Sam Regenstrief Professor of Health Services Research, and professor of medicine, has been named winner of the National Award for Career Achievement and Contribution to Clinical and Translational Science by the Association for Clinical Research Training the American Federation for Medical Research, the Society for Clinical and Translational Science and the Association for Patient-Oriented Research. The award is presented to a senior investigator who has had "national impact by virtue of contributions to clinical and translational science." It was officially presented

Thursday, April 28, at the 2011 Clinical and Translational Research and Education Meeting in Washington, DC. Dr. Tierney also serves as president and CEO of the Regenstrief Institute and associate director of the Indiana Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute.

Sound Medicine, the national radio program co-produced by IUSM and WFYI Public Radio (90.1FM), was recently awarded first place for best radio writing in medicine/science and second place for radio production by the Indiana Society of Professional Journalists for its December 12, 2010 program on autism. The Sound Medicine radio and on-line production team includes Nora Hiatt, Barbara Lewis West, Jeremy Shere, Chris Lieber, Marti LaChance and Pamela Perry. Co-hosts and contributors are Drs. David Crabb, Kathy Miller, Steve Bogdewic, Eric Meslin, Richard Frankel, and Larry Cripe and Eric Metcalf. With the continued support of the School and its partners at IU Health, IU Health Physicians, IUPUI and Wishard Health Services, the Sound Medicine team looks forward to creating more outstanding programs on medical research, health issues and patient care. To hear to the award-winning episode, visit soundmedicine.iu.edu/show/405.

May 13, 2011:

David W. Crabb, MD, chair and John B. Hickam Professor of Medicine and Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, has been appointed to the to the NIH Council of Councils, which advise the NIH director on cutting edge, trans-NIH priorities and matters related to policies and activities of the Division of Program Coordination, Planning, and Strategic Initiatives. Dr. Crabb was among only 20 members announced on May 11. His appointment will be in effect until Oct. 31, 2012

Clement McDonald, MD, Distinguished Professor Emeritus and Regenstrief Professor Emeritus of Medical Informatics, will receive an honorary degree May 15 from Indiana University, the highest honor the university can bestow, during the IUPUI Commencement. Dr. McDonald, who served as professor of medicine at from 1972-2006, is considered the “father” of medical informatics. He will be presented the degree by IU President Michael A. McRobbie.

Mark Seifert, PhD, professor of anatomy and cell biology, and Javier Sevilla-Martir, MD, assistant dean for Diversity Affairs and associate professor of clinical family medicine, have been named recipients of the 2011 IUSM Faculty Teaching Awards. The awards are given in recognition of demonstrated excellence in teaching and to highlight the importance of teaching within the school. The winners will be presented their awards at Spring Faculty Meeting on Tuesday, May 17. More information at medicine.iu.edu/meca/awards/fta.

George Rawls, MD, clinical professor emeritus of surgery, has been named recipient of the 2011 Bepko Community Medallion. This award was created by the IUPUI Senior Academy in 2003 to honor a person who has made a significant and ongoing commitment to strengthen the bonds between IUPUI and the larger community. Dr. Rawls served as assistant dean of student affairs and clinical professor of surgery for five years at IUSM. He is also a past president of the Indianapolis and Indiana State Medical Societies and former delegate to the National Medical Association and American Medical Association. Dr. Rawls was awarded an honorary degree by IU in 2001. All Bepko Medallion recipients are listed on a plaque in the IUPUI Campus Center Senior Academy Room.

IUSM Alumni Association Awards

The IUSM Alumni Association will confer several awards at the Celebrate IUSM Alumni Reception and Awards program at 5:45 p.m. Friday, May 20, in Scholars Hall at the University Place Conference Center and Hotel. This year's recipients are:

- Joseph Fitzgerald, MD: Dr. Fitzgerald, MD '65, Residency '67, professor of clinical pediatrics, will receive the 2011 the Glenn W. Irwin Jr., MD, Distinguished Faculty Award. He is a pediatric gastroenterologist at Riley Hospital for Children.
- Rodney Perkins, MD: Dr. Perkins, MD '61, will receive the 2011 Distinguished Alumnus Award. He is a medical entrepreneur residing in Central California who grew up in Evansville. Dr. Perkins will present a short program about medical entrepreneurship at 2:30 p.m. on Friday. Those interested in attending should contact the Alumni Relations office at 274-1345.
- Bryan Schneider, MD: Dr. Schneider, MD '99, Residency '02, Assistant Professor of Medicine and medical and molecular genetics, will receive the 2011 Early Career Achievement Award. He is a medical oncologist at the IU Simon Cancer Center.

This award reception will be part of the larger IUSM Alumni Weekend, which takes place over two days, Saturday, May 20, and Sunday, May 21.

May 20, 2011

Eric M. Meslin, PhD, director of the IU Center for Bioethics and associate dean for bioethics at IUSM, has been appointed to the Ethics Subcommittee, Advisory Committee to the director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

This 12-member subcommittee provides counsel on a broad range of public health ethics questions and issues arising from programs, scientists and practitioners. The subcommittee also supports the CDC in developing internal capacity to identify, analyze and resolve ethical issues.

June 3, 2011:

Dean Maglinte, MD, Distinguished Professor of Radiology and Imaging Sciences, was awarded Honorary Fellowship by the European Society of Gastrointestinal and Abdominal Radiology (ESGAR) in recognition of his outstanding contributions to Gastrointestinal and Abdominal Radiology at the 22nd Annual Meeting and Postgraduate Course of ESGAR in Venice, Italy, on May 21-24.

George Parker, MD, associate professor of clinical psychiatry, has been selected as the recipient of the 2011 National Alliance on Mental Health (NAMI) Exemplary Psychiatrist Award. The award is given to a psychiatrist who has made substantial contributions to NAMI Affiliate and NAMI State Organization activities and who is noteworthy for "going the extra mile." Award winners are recognized for their advocacy for access to care and research funding, community education programs and other NAMI priorities. Winners have also provided comprehensive treatment to consumers including medical, rehabilitative and social needs, and have taken time to educate family members and people living with mental illness.

June 10, 2011

Six faculty named to Who's Who list

Six IUSM faculty are listed in the 2011 Indianapolis Business Journal "Who's Who in the Life Sciences," which highlights the "influential players," whether in the public eye or behind the scenes, who fuel the life sciences in Indiana. They are:

- D. Craig Brater, MD, dean of the IU Medical School, vice president of university clinical affairs, Walter J. Daly Professor of Medicine and professor of pharmacology and toxicology.
- Kenneth Cornetta, MD, Chair and Joe C. Christian Professor of Medical and Molecular Genetics and professor of medicine and microbiology and immunology.
- Keith March, MD, PhD, Cryptic Masons Medical Research Foundation Professor of Vascular Biology Research and professor of medicine and cellular and integrative physiology.
- Anantha Shekhar, MD, PhD, associate dean for translational research, director of the Indiana CTSI, Raymond E. Houk Professor of Psychiatry and professor of neurobiology and pharmacology and toxicology.
- William Tierney, MD, associate dean for clinical effectiveness research, Sam Regenstrief Professor of Health Services Research and professor of medicine.
- David Wilkes, MD, executive associate dean for research affairs, August M. Watanabe Professor of Medical Research and professor of medicine, microbiology and immunology, and biochemistry and molecular biology.