Herron School of Art and Design integrates rigorous studio and liberal arts course work with professional practice and civic engagement in the form of community based projects, collaborations and internships. Herron's curriculum and programs prepare graduates to become leaders in a world that requires their unique combination of creativity, conceptual skills and technical abilities.

Teaching and Learning

- Director of Art Therapy, Assistant Professor Juliet King, was selected to present two panels during the 2012 Spirit and Place Festival <http://www.herron.iupui.edu/press/2012-09-11/herron%E2%80%99s-director-art-therapy-juliet-king-speak-two-spirit-and-place-events>
- Works by Assistant Professor in Ceramics Lesley Baker, were displayed at the Ann Linnemann Studio Gallery in Copenhagen. The exhibit, Ceramics and Print—Narratives, coincides with the release of the second edition of Ceramics and Print by Paul Scott. The new edition updates the 20-year-old handbook and includes recent developments including screen printing image transfer. Herron is one of the few schools in the United States currently offering this technology. The book includes a work by Baker, a leading international figure in the field. While in Denmark for the exhibit Baker attended a ceramics and print seminar at the Guldagergaard International Ceramics Research Center (<http://ceramic.dk/>) in Skaelskor. <http://www.herron.iupui.edu/blog/12112012/baker-shows-denmark>

Best Practices

- Senior Lecturer in Foundation Studies Sherry Stone chaired the panel, "Harnessing Lightning: Teaching Strategies for Ideation and Problem Solving in Foundations," for the 2013 Foundations in Art: Theory and Excellence (FATE) Conference in Savannah, GA, April 3 – 6, 2013. Her panel proposal was one of 104 selected from a field of 165.
- Assistant Professor in Art Education Jeanne Nemeth was one of three editors + three authors of a Handbook to be published by National Art Education Association, identifying resources and strategies that support student learning through promoting cultural sensitivity and participation in a globally interconnected world.
- Herron's Community Learning Program's Saturday School received new support from Raymond James to provide for five at-risk, Marion County youth to attend Saturday School. Additional scholarship assistance was also provided by the Joseph Maley Foundation, Herron Alumni Association, Prizm-The Artist's Supply Store and individual gifts.
- Support for Youth Art Camp 2012 came from Summer Youth Program Fund funders -- Lilly Endowment, the Christel DeHaan Family Foundation and The Indianapolis Foundation -- as well as PNC Foundation and individual donations.
- Herron's Honors Art & Design pre-college program, in summer 2012, was expanded to include workshops on visual communications design, and the name of the program was updated to Honors Art & Design. High school juniors, seniors and recent graduates who participated in one of the two, two-week sessions received guidance in studying visual communications design as well as fine arts.

- Vacant, was a one-night only exhibition featuring 48 Herron students and alumni held in the former City Hall building in downtown Indianapolis. This event was conceptualized and executed by three Herron students, students Taryn Cassella, Anna Martinez and Andrea Townsend, with guidance by numerous faculty members. The event drew more than 4,000 guests (they had hoped for 500) including Governor Mike Pence.
